

ABSTRACT

A method and system for optimized collecting, processing and sharing of e-mail opt-out, unsubscribe or remove information is disclosed. After opt-out or unsubscribe information is received or collected, it is stored in a database for subsequent processing, evaluation, distribution and updating. The information can then be utilized for optimized e-mail marketing by an entity.